INTALInC 3RD ANNUAL WEBINAR SERIES, SHOWCASING INTALInC RESEARCH: OUTPUTS AND IMPACTS

Session 6: Emerging Priorities for Future Research

Wednesday 5th July 2023 at 2:30pm (UK time)

Showcasing INTALInC Research: Outputs and Impacts draws on six years of global research activity, policy engagement and co-production with local communities to understand their mobility and accessibility needs. This sixth and final session considers learning from some of the many projects promoted under the INTALInC banner, aiming to provide a coherent and collective response to common themes emerging from previous webinars in the series.

Professor Karen Lucas (INTALInC, University of Manchester) will chair a panel comprised of speakers from across the series including: Daniel Oviedo (University College, London); Steve Cinderby (SEI York); Eda Beyazit (Istanbul Technical University); Tanu Priya Uteng (Norwegian Centre for Transport Research); Nancy Abira (SEI Africa); and Gail Jennings and Winnie Sambu (World Bicycle Relief).

The panel will be asked to consider two key questions:

- Given the extent of the research and evidence base, what needs to be done next to improve transport and mobilities for vulnerable populations in the global south?
- How should we communicate evidence to people with the power to make a difference in a way that provokes the response these populations need?

Following on from the panel discussion, participants will be invited to make their own contributions to a wider discussion.
